Anderson Interfaith Ministries (AIM) is a private non-profit organization in South Carolina.

Our partnerships extend throughout the upstate and include over 140 churches of various denominations, local, state and national government agencies, non-profit agencies serving those in need, businesses and corporations, educational entities and civic groups. Our programs “aim” at the core problems that prevent families from emerging out of poverty. Our mission is to connect people with support, resources and education so they can empower themselves to become self-sufficient. AIM is very proudly a “hand-up” not a “hand-out”.
